Vol. 28 OCTOBER 31, 1951 No. 2

ALMA

Library. "Place of the Librarian in a Jesuit College," Fr. Francis Sheerin's article in the Jesuit Educational Quarterly for October, was originally a paper read at the convention of the Jesuit Library Association in Chicago during Easter Week of this year. The paper was written at the request of the Secretary of the JLA. Jesuit librarians held special sessions of their own at Loyola U, Chicago, during the convention of the Catholic Library Association.

The article concludes that the Society's Rules of Librarians (22 in the 1932 edition) are "abreast of, and in many instances have anticipated today's most effective principles of library administration."

Salesians. From the Salesian Theologate at Aptos, 15 seminarians and three faculty members came to spend Thursday, Oct. 11 at Alma. Messrs. Barthel and M. Collins (Ore.) prepared lunch at Lower Lake. In the afternoon's softball game the Alma team, with Fr. Perri (Ore.) on the mound, won 5-4. The guests stayed for supper in the refectory.

College Religion. The Academy on Teaching College Religion is making a detailed study of the four-year plans now being followed by the religion departments of Boston College, Le Moyne College, and the two universities and three colleges of the Maryland Province. In addition, Academy members have written around to secure the textbooks and class materials now being used in Jesuit religion courses throughout the country.

Ministry. Fr. Casey gave the annual retreat to the Catholic men of USF in early October. The men gathered in St. Ignatius Church for the talks.

Alma is now sending a Father to the Notre Dame Convent, Saratoga, for daily Mass. Two Fathers will go when the convent infirmary is finished.

Mexican Mission. At the end of September, 15 boys and girls, aged 10-16, began six months probation for acceptance into the Sodality of Our Lady. Fr. Louis Kern is director, Mr. Poole (Ore.) moderator. Besides giving good example, which includes daily Rosary, the new group serves as a contact organization. Members went around to the Spanish-speaking families and got the names of those who want to receive Catholic magazines. These will be furnished by Sisters from various schools. Each family is to remail the magazines after reading them.

Now the Sodalists are contacting the families to get the names of dead to be remembered at Mass during November.

During August the missionaries taught daily at three centers. They prepared 30 children for First Communion, Sept. 2. For the summer-school picnic, Aug. 30 at Alum Rock Park in San Jose, Fr. Roccati helped out very much with the menu. The Fathers of Bellarmine Prep, on this as on other occasions, generously lent busses for transporting the children.

Since school started in September, catechism classes are being held Saturdays 1:30-4:00, and Sunday before Mass. Teachers during November will be Messrs. Poole, LeRoux, Masterson, Danel (Ore.), A. Byrne, Fernandez, Fisher, Fox, Mackin, Maddux.

Mr. John Kelly is "Theologian-Superior" of the Mexican Missionaries.

Varia. Oct. 13, Fr. James Edward Timothy Malone was felicitated by the whole house on the occasion of his 79th birthday.

Sept. 26 the Theologians defeated the Juniors in baseball, 8-6. Oct. 7 Mr. F. Costello (Ore.) hurried to Spokane, to be near his mother, who is dying. Oct. 17, Feast of St. Margaret Mary, the Alma community, besides visiting rectors and teachers, gathered for the Onomasticon of Fr. Rector (H. Werts). Mr. Maddux emceed.

AZUSA

Retreats. Fr. Odou's retreat in September had 34 men, the largest group yet assembled at Manresa. Other retreat-givers during the month were Frs. Murray of Loyola U., Whelan, J. Vaughan.

In off-campus activities Fr. Whelan gave a retreat to the ladies at the Social Service Convent in L.A., Fr. Odou to ladies at the Monastery of the Angels, Fr. Vaughan to students at Loyola High; Fr. Whelan a day of recollection at the Monastery of the Angels, Fr. Vaughan the Forty Hours in the Azusa parish. Fr. Whelan also sang the Mass of the Holy Ghost and preached at Immaculate Heart in Hollywood and Ramona Convent.

Changes. After 17 years as confessor for the Dominican Sisters of the Second Order in Hollywood, Fr. Whelan has been replaced by Fr. Vaughan. Fr. Whelan was appointed regular confessor for the Carmelite Sisters of the Third Order at Duarte, also at their novitiate in Alhambra.

Early in September, Manresa lost a constant benefactress when Mrs. Catherine Murphy died suddenly on a trip to Omaha. Fr. Whelan conducted the obsequies in L.A.

Fr. McAstocker, who had been so seriously ill that he had to be removed early in the summer to St. Bernardine's Hospital in San Bernardino, had recovered by Sept. 27 and is now back at the Maryknoll Sanitarium in nearby Monrovia. Fathers from Azusa visit him regularly.

Bros. Germann and Mellon replaced Bros. Ronald and Rude, Sept. 10.

Visitors. Priest-retreatants during September were Frs. Marshall and Brusher from Loyola U., Fr. G. Leahy of Phoenix, Fr. Webb, a navy chaplain from the navy hospital at Corona, and Fr. Milunas of the Chicago Province, now doing post-graduate work at Stanford.

Sign Magazine (Passionist) for October has a fine article on CMOA, Convert Makers of America, in which full credit is given to Fr. Odou for having organized convert work on a national scale.

To Fr. Tom Sullivan goes the credit of organizing the retreat group week after week; and this in spite of the competition of two older and well established and organized retreat houses conducted by the Passionists and Franciscans.

BELLARMINE

Alumni. Fr. Rector called a special meeting of selected alumni from the last 25 years to reorganize the Alumni Association. Representatives from 17 classes came. A Homecoming Mass, Communion, Breakfast and football game are scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 11. Former teachers are also invited to meet with the alumni.

A list of 70 alumni now in the armed forces has been compiled, but more names are needed to complete it.

Fr. Rector made several trips with members of the Dads Club to ask for gifts for our new faculty building from wealthy alumni and dads in nearby cities.

Parents. At the successful Freshmen Parents Night, Oct. 3, Fr. Rector (T. Cosgrave) spoke on the purpose of the Night, Fr. Corvi explained the Bellarmine course of studies, Fr. G. Flynn methods of home study, and Fr. McDermott the student counseling system. The Presidents of the Dads Club and Ladies Guild described the coming events on their year's program.

The Jesuit Mothers of Santa Clara Valley received the new Jesuit Mothers in a meeting here, Oct. 17. Fr. G. Walsh is moderator.

Activities. 114 sophomores tried out in the Oratorical contest conducted by Frs. Corvi and Flynn. The eight who were selected for the finals on Nov. 6 will be coached by Messrs. Enright, Stackpoole, Rosbottom, Becker, E. T. Burke, Aziz, O'Hara, and Herzberg.

The Fall play, "You Can't Take It With You," was staged in the University of Santa Clara auditorium, Oct. 24, 25, 26. Fr. Conway, the moderator, was very successful in his ticket selling campaign. Mr. Stackpoole has already assembled part of his material for the 1952 Carillon. Mr. Powers and his Camera Club have taken many pictures. Bro. McDermott of Alma is helping with pictures. An alumni edition of The Cardinal was mailed out to alumni Oct. 12. Another edition will be printed in the spring.

Fr. Lord. Addressing the student body on the subject of Holy Communion, Fr. Lord asked them to take a pledge for life to receive Communion every week.

In the retreats held Oct. 2-4, Fr. Maring directed freshmen, Fr. Giambastiani sophomores and juniors, Fr. O'Mara seniors.

Fr. McDermott, chaplain, asked that during October the teachers start some of their classes with a decade of the Rosary. In this way the entire Rosary was said daily by each class.

CHINA

The newspapers in Shanghai are continuing their attacks on Ours as well as on other Catholic institutions. Only four Religious of the Sacred Heart are left in Shanghai; the Loretta School for Girls and the Marist Brothers' Joan of Arc School for Boys are the only two Catholic schools operating, but they do not expect to last much longer. Communist authorities are stressing in their press campaign a movement for the establishment of a "national" Catholic Church, independent of Rome.

There has been no news from our Fathers in the Yangchow district for over a month. Fr. John Brennan has applied for his exit visa, and if successful, will join Ours in the Philippines.

At Zikawei the school year began Sept. 15. The triduum for renovation of vows ended on the 14th, Feast of the Exaltation of the Holy Cross. Schola Brevis marked the beginning of Fr. Rouleaus's 14th year of teaching at the International Jesuit Scholasticate at Zikawei. His courses comprise Ecclesiastical History, a series of lectures on the history of the China Mission, and a seminar on Missiology. Spare time is given to the monumental collection of original MS documents bearing on the early history of the Church in China. To these duties is added this year an assignment as spiritual father to the community of Christ the King parish. Fr. McCarthy, after an illness, is again teaching: De Sacramentis (Baptism, Confirmation, and Orders). There are 50 theologians, but no first year men, due to the current unsettled conditions. For some courses, students of the Shanghai regional seminary attend classes at our scholasticate. Of the 19 ordinandi this year, 11 are Chinese.

CHRIST THE KING CHURCH

Our Fathers were guests of the Franciscans on the Feast of St. Francis.

Acting on the idea that "the soul of education is the education of the soul," the local public school principal is cooperating with our after-school catechism program, and schedules no activities on catechism day. Parents receive printed forms on which they indicate whether they want their children to attend Catholic or Protestant classes, but since only one Protestant minister was interested, the ratio has been 10 children receiving Protestant instruction to 134 coming to our classes. One child remarked on the street that she was coming to the Catholic class next time because the minister "don't teach us nothing."

Last year all the Protestant children were sent to the Methodist church. The minister was puzzled and asked the principal what he was supposed to do with them. When the principal told him, "That's your profession," he discontinued classes, with the result that our enrollment increased. This year 27 Protestants expressed the wish that their children receive Catholic instruction. The classes are being taught by Fr. Hesser.

Most of the colored children in the neighborhood attend Guadalupe School. When parents are asked why they don't send their children to public schools, they answer, "They don't come up to our standard." Many have thus been brought into the Church.

One Protestant child who had been attending catechism class took it upon herself to conduct a "tour" of the church, explaining what it all meant. Passing the baptistry: "That's where you all get Catholic." Pulling back the curtain of the confessional: "That's where Father takes his shower."

LOS GATOS

Fr. Perlite was appointed Minister of the Juniors and Sub-Minister of the house.

Fr. Wm. Huesman gave an interesting account of the Worcester Religion Institute. Fr. James Healy addressed the Jesuit Mothers Club in San Jose, Oct. 17. At the Mass of the Holy Ghost at USF Fr. Silva preached on "The Dignity of Work."

Fr. Strehl suffered a heart attack Oct. 4 and was taken to O'Connor Hospital, where he recovered quickly and after ten days was taken to the Santa Clara Infirmary. He is expected home soon. The same day Bro. McWhirter left for L.A. where his brother had been placed in an iron lung after suffering a severe atttack of polio. The latter's month-old son was also stricken with the disease but recovered quickly and is expected to suffer no permanent ill effects. Fr. McGreal returned home after three days in O'Connor's, and Fr. Budde spent ten days here recuperating from a recent illness.

Bros. Rankin and Williams took their first vows Oct. 11. Since the Novices went into the fields in September nearly 500 tons of grapes have been picked. The newly completed chicken house contains more than 1400 hens. Capacity is 1920.

LOYOLA HIGH

Scholastic. A reprint of the article, "Catholics in Secular Colleges," by Avery R. Dulles, S.J., was enclosed when the first period report cards were mailed to the students' homes.

Oct. 11 the chemistry department moved into its new lab. The final approval of the plumbing by the city officials was completed at this time.

Fr. James Kelly gave an explanatory talk to 50 seniors on the scholastic requirements for candidates of the Naval ROTC. Father illustrated his talk with a Navy educational film.

The selection of candidates for the CSF this year has been completed by Fr. N. Bacigalupi.

Again this year the Industrial Relations Department of Loyola U. is using the High School for evening sessions.

Organizational. The annual Fathers-Sons Kickoff Rally was sponsored by the Dads Club in our new gym Oct. 11. The large number of dads and sons joined enthusiastically in honoring Loyola High's first team on the present campus (1917), and the 1951 varsity. Fr. Kelly was a member of that original team, as was Msgr. Dolan. Fr. Rector (F. Harrington) used the occasion of this rally to acknowledge publicly the cooperative efforts of the dads and students in last year's Fiesta which made the summer alterations in the school plant possible.

The Henry Welch Guild held a tea for the freshmen mothers, Thursday afternoon, Oct. 18. Fr. Frugoli publicized among the mothers of the students the use of JSA cards as fitting Christmas gifts. To the Jesuit Mothers at their monthly meeting Father made the same explanation.

Messrs. J. Rock and Hogan attended an archdiocesan teachers' meeting in the Chancery Office, Oct. 13. Messrs. Dempsey and Gennette went to the sessions of the American Educational Theater Association at Immaculate Heart College on the same day.

Fr. Sprague has been selected to serve on the membership committee of the Southern California section of the Catholic Library Association.

Early this month Mr. Clement Kennedy was elected corresponding secretary of the Southern California Debate League.

A fully equipped darkroom has been built by Fr. Domachowski in what was once the kitchen in the little cottage directly behind the faculty building. The same structure also houses the publication offices of the school paper and annual. The Sodality moderators are decorating the large room in this building as a suitable meeting place for Sodality activities.

Spiritual. The students are cooperating with all Catholic schools in the subscription drive for the archdiocesan weekly, The Tidings. Results are very encouraging. Under Fr. Rooney, during October the Rosary is being recited daily in the school yard at noon period. Each Sunday Fr. G. Crowley takes a group of Sodalists to the General Hospital to assist patients to Holy Mass. Fr. Pettid, now an army chaplain at Camp Erwin, Barstow, California, was a recent overnight guest.

LOYOLA UNIVERSITY

The Department of Education has been granted permission to give the degree, Master in Education.

New members of the faculty and their wives were welcomed to the University Faculty at a tea held Sunday, Sept. 28, on the terrace outside the Sky Room.

Fr. Giambastiani of the Province Mission Band directed the annual student retreat, Sept. 16-19. Fr. Hauck, President of Santa Clara, preached the sermon at the Mass of the Holy Ghost, Oct. 5. The first regional meeting of the NFCCS was held in the Sky Room, Oct. 17.

MOUNT ST. MICHAEL'S

The feast of St. Michael, Sept. 29, was especially significant this year because the house has been re-established as a Collegium Maximum.

Two seminars have been inaugurated on the Social and Economic Teaching of the Church as seen in the Encyclicals and Fr. General's letter, De Apostolatu Sociali. The two groups meet separately once a week under the direction of Fr. Wolf and Fr. Wm. Gaffney. Participation is restricted to third year and specialists in social sciences.

A new speech-training program was put into effect at the end of September. Mr. F. Stanton, a lay professor at Gonzaga, conducts five classes at the Mount. Each meets once a week. It is planned to have these classes every first semester.

Fr. Rector (John Dunne) addressed the first meeting of the Sodality Academy, speaking on the work of high school and college Sodalities. His encouragement gave special impetus to the Academy's program for the coming year.

On the 14th the Philosophers presented an adaptation of the play "Harvey," with Mr. Smith directing. Mr. Perkins, choir director, and Mr. Mason, organist, are preparing for a Christmas Eve radio broadcast over KGA, the first since 1949. Two first-year men arrived from Argentina to begin philosophy and to perfect their English.

PORT TOWNSEND

Fr. R. Vaughan, who suffered very much during the past month with a ruptured disk, was successfully operated on, Oct. 16.

Fr. Zabala gave an eight-day retreat to the Hospitalers of St. Joseph in Polsom, Montana; Fr. Kristovich a three-day retreat to high school girls at Mount St. Vincent's, Seattle; Fr. Frank Dunn a triduum to the hospital nurses at Vancouver, Washington. Fr. Vachon returned from his hospital experiment in Medford and Portland, and Fr. Kennard began his in Spokane.

In response to the Archbishop's request for speakers, Frs. Marien and Li gave sermons on Mission Sunday at Bremerton and Port Angeles.

SAN FRANCISCO

University

The College and University section of the California State Library Association held their meetings at the Richard A. Gleeson Library during the San Francisco convention. The Catholic

Library group also held their meetings at the same place earlier in the month.

Father President (William Dunne) attended the executive meeting of the University-College section of the National Education Association convened in Chicago. Fr. Dunne is President of the group.

Fr. Francis Silva of Los Gatos preached the sermon at the Mass of the Holy Ghost for the University students. Fr. Rector (Tobin) was celebrant of the Mass with Fr. Brown as deacon and Fr. R. Scannell subdeacon. Fr. Albert Casey of Alma gave the retreat to the Catholic students. Fr. Duffy addressed the non-Catholics, and Fr. McMahon gave the talks to the women students.

The latest book of Fr. Peter Dunne has just been published. It is a biography of one of the earliest missionaries of the west coast of Mexico: "Andres Perez de Ribas: Pioneer Black Robe of the West Coast, Administrator, Historian."

Fr. Dunne has been admitted as a member of the "Gallery of Living Catholic Authors," which has headquarters in Webster Groves, Missouri.

Fr. Daniel McGloin has planned along with Fr. A. Falvey a Great Books Program discussion which will meet in the Gleeson Library.

High School

A new system has been inaugurated for period exams. On the first day those having classes in the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd periods will take their test; classes as usual in the afternoon. On the second day, 4th, 6th, and 7th periods will have their tests in the first three periods of the day. The regular morning classes will be had in the afternoon.

A Sanctuary picnic for summer servers was had at Alma College and Villa Joseph, Oct. 12. Several of the students' former teachers came up from Alma to make the day a happy one. Mr. McFadden starred as pitcher in the ball game, winning for the faculty 9-4. Oct. 13 the Sanctuary Society had a Shindig and movie in the USF auditorium.

During the summer Joe Arnerich of SI drowned, and Bob Bray died of a heart ailment.

In the annual retreat, Oct. 16-18, Fr. Lyons gave the instructions to the seniors, Fr. Seeliger to the other classes.

A lawn was put in at Rancho Olompali. The Scholastics volunteered their help and made it a one-day job. The lawn is coming up beautifully. Oct. 6 the Scholastics picnicked at Villa Joseph with Bellarmine and Santa Clara Scholastics.

The Fathers Club gave a successful dinner dance in the new gym, Oct. 13. Fr. Cosgrave directed the affair. About 300 parents attended.

UNIVERSITY OF SANTA CLARA

Conventions. The Western College Association will meet at Santa Clara Nov. 3, their first time on the campus of a Catholic men's college. 300 educators from 37 colleges are expected. Fr. Hynes is chairman of general arrangements, and Fr. James King is on the program committee. Fr. President (Hauck) will give the keynote address on the theme selected by the Executive Committee of WCA: "American Leadership in Spiritual and Moral Values."

The southwest section of the National Catholic Educational Association will convene on this campus Nov. 2. Fr. Hynes is in charge of arrangements.

More than 150 members and guests of the Western Economic Association met here Sept. 6-7 for their 26th annual conference. In a resolution approved by the conference it was stated that "In the long history of the Association it has seldom been the pleasure of the membership to enjoy such gracious hospitality in such beautiful surroundings as has been provided by the University of Santa Clara."

Representatives. Fr. Hynes was among the representatives of Catholic colleges in the Bay Area who met in the office of Fr. James Brown, Superintendent of Schools of the Archdiocese of San Francisco, during October. The group discussed mutual problems. Fr. Edward Boland reports that Governor Warren's Conferences on the Problems of the Aged, which Father attended in Sacramento Oct. 15-16, were most interesting and profitable. Fr. Guenther represented the University at the regional meeting of the National Association of Educational Buyers at Santa Maria Inn, Oct. 12-13.

Gifts. The paintings and silverware of the De Saisset family of San Jose were stored on campus under the direction of Fr. Pociask, who will be their custodian until they can be properly exhibited. The gallery planned for the campus by the de Saisset will cannot be built for some time. The will is not completely settled and the government is restricting materials.

Busts of Cicero and Demosthenes were given to the Law School by Senator Samuel Shortridge. Fr. President and Fr. Hynes spoke at the short acceptance ceremony directed by Dean Owens.

The Galtes Museum received from Mr. Hugh, a San Francisco collector, a tabernacle dating from 1750 and taken from a cathedral in Mexico which had been destroyed by earthquake. This relic is made of handcarved wood overlaid with gold leaf. Its ornamentation is similar to that of the present main altar in the Mission Church.

Fr. Fagothey. The Philosophy Department was pleased to hear from Fr. Mallon of St. Louis University that in the Graduate Record Examination in Scholastic Philosophy, Santa Clara placed second among the ten Jesuit colleges that participated. Each candidate for a B.A. in the College of Arts and Science was required last spring to pass this examination and to take a general aptitude test.

At the invitation of the Director of the Newman Club at San Jose State College, Fr. Fagothey is conducting a round table discussion each Tuesday afternoon at that school. Twenty students participate in discussing ethical problems.

Fr. Fagothey went to San Francisco Oct. 13 as the guest of Mr. Haggerty of St. Mary's College and Mr. McKinnon to attend a luncheon and symposium at which Mortimer Adler discussed with the group some of his ideas regarding the five proofs for the existence of God.

Speakers. Fr. Schmidt is head of Division C for the Community Chest drive in Santa Clara. In behalf of the Chest he spoke before 16 organizations in one week. Nov. 5-6 he will represent the University at the Priests' Workshop on the Lay Apostolate, to be conducted under the auspices of Archbishop Mitty at St. Mary's Cathedral.

Fr. Hubbard will begin the lectures of his 25th anniversary as an Alaskan explorer Oct. 30 when he gives his new lecture and shows his most recent films to the students of the University. The title of his new lecture is "Twenty-Five Years on Top of the World." Nov. 1 he will address the teachers of the public schools in San Francisco when they meet for their Teachers Institute. In inviting Fr. Hubbard, Dr. Herbert Clish, Superintendent of Schools, said that he believed Father would be the first priest to address the S.F. Institute. During November Father will begin a lecture tour which will take him to St. Paul where he will talk under the auspices of the Catholic Digest, and to Ontario, Toronto and Montreal to speak under the auspices of the League of the Sacred Heart. On his return to Santa Clara he will continue his project of making wholesome sound-on-film educational movies.

Fr. Casassa of Loyola U. preached at the Holy Ghost Mass here, Sept. 20. Frs. O'Mara and Dondero gave the student retreat which started Sept. 24. Fr. John O'Connell spoke in October to the Serra Club of Monterey on Catholic college education.

Health. Fr. Eugene Bacigalupi returned to his physics lectures after a sickness that forced him to give up all his activities during the summer. He has not yet resumed work at the Agnew State Hospital. This tremendous work, which Fr. Bacigalupi has been quietly performing for the past 20 years, was undertaken by the Fathers of St. Clare's Parish.

Fr. Joseph Martin, who underwent a rather serious operation during the spring, was well enough to represent the University at the Worcester Religion Institute (see "Varia"). He continues as Head of the Department of Religion, to which he brought additional enthusiasm as a result of the Institute.

Ill health has forced Fr. Henry Walsh to postpone work on his history of Santa Clara during its first 100 years.

SODALITY

Fr. Howard and Fr. Weller (Ore.) took part in the annual meeting of Sodality Regional Secretaries held at the Queen's Work, St. Louis, Sept. 28-30. The other delegates were Frs. LeBuffe and Drolet of New York, Carrabine of Chicago, Douglas Daly of Canada, Samuel Hill Ray of New Orleans, and John P. Smith of Washington, D.C. At the meeting a new list of duties for Regional Secretaries was drawn up. Reports on Sodality promotion in the Assistancy were encouraging.

Fr. Francis Curran has been assigned to work with Fr. Richard Rooney on College and Nursing Sodalities, as well as with Parish Sodalities. At present Frs. Curran and Rooney are reworking for national use a College Sodality Handbook written by Fr. Schell of John Carroll U.

VARIA

Religion Institute

Eight Fathers from the West Coast were among the 76 delegates and other participants in the first National Religion Institute for Jesuit College Religion Teachers, held at Holy Cross College in Worcester, Mass., Aug. 2-13 inclusive. Represented were the religion departments of all Jesuit colleges and universities in the U.S., all the Theologates, and the English-speaking sections of Canada. Seven Province Prefects of Studies were present. Organizer and director of the Institute was Fr. Joseph Fitzgerald, Prefect of Studies for the New England Province.

The western delegates were:
Calif.: Fr. Hugh M. Duce
Jn. Collins, Loyola U.
Jos. Martin, Santa Clara
R. Scannell, USF
Wm. Huesman, Alma
Ore.: Wm. Weller
F. Lindekugel, Seattle U.
G. McDonald, Gonzaga U.

Reports. Fr. Collins gave the Province report on religion teaching in the three California universities. He also delivered a talk on the method of teaching Church history. Fr. Huesman spoke on "Integration of Religion with Other Courses."
